I have been living in London for over two years, in which I have completed my BA in International Studies at Goldsmiths, while working part-time jobs to maintain myself. My interest is in understanding the complexities of our current world and its history; my passion is in imagining the world of tomorrow and trying to come up with ways of walking towards it. I am eager to undergo the first meaningful work experience as a graduate, and I believe an internship would be the best environment for me to develop my skills. I am ready to give my best.
